Guidelines for Use of UW Foundation Funds in e-Reimbursement

Overview

Gifts coming to us through the UW Foundation are made with thoughtful care and great love for the university. Claimants have the responsibility to cooperate with the UW Foundation in the solicitation of the gifts and to provide good stewardship of the gifts once received. By adhering to the guidelines below, we will continue to benefit from this partnership for many years to come.

In e-Reimbursement, expenses not payable with University funding may be allocated to UW Foundation accounts. Upon final approval of an expense report that uses both University and UW Foundation funding, the claimant will receive a single payment for the total amount approved. The University bills the UW Foundation weekly for the expenses allocated to the Foundation. Included with the billing are expense details (e.g. business purpose/justification), list of attendees and UW Foundation account information. The UW Foundation reviews all billing information and determines if the expense is within their established guidelines and reflects the intent of the donor. If approved, the UW Foundation will reimburse the University for expenses already paid to the claimant. See How to Allocate Expenses to the UW Foundation in e-Reimbursement.

Note: If the items being requested for reimbursement are allowable under state procurement and travel rules, they must be processed with university funds. The UW Foundation may determine that an expense is inappropriate or unreasonable and deny the request for reimbursement. In this case, the University will notify the Divisional Business Office and assist in determining an alternative payment method (i.e. personal funds, project/grant, etc.).

Before Incurring Expenses

Before incurring expenses, it is the claimant's responsibility to:

- Understand UW Foundation policies
  - Guidelines (see below)
  - Memo from Chancellor: UW-Madison and UW Foundation Policies
  - UW Foundation
- Acknowledge the donor's intent of the funding
- Ensure account balance is sufficient to cover expense

Note: If uncertain that expenses are appropriate, contact your Divisional Business Office.
